

Heads up! Hubalabike.com, the collaborative portal for urban bike riders, will be online soon. Starting on March 09, cyclists will create their profile and their bikes profiles, create / join events and hubs, meet other urban bike riders and share news on this collaborative web portal, dedicated to urban style cyclists and bikes. Hubalabike is a web 2.0 portal, created and managed by a cycling-passionate, for friends and cyclists.

A complete 2.0 website for urban bike riders

Centered on urban bike riding, Hubalabike aims to gather urban-style cyclists together on a 2.0 complete website. The urban bike riders community is growing all around the world: it was time for its members to be present on Internet. BMX contests, fixed-gear group rides and messengers championships, road cycling groups: it was also time for urban cycling events to be offered a window on Internet!

Rich content made by cyclists for bike riders

Created and programmed by a passionate fixed-gear rider, Hubalabike is designed especially for urban bike riders. BMX, fixed-gear, road but also mountain bike, recumbent and folding bikes... every one is welcome to enjoy Hubalabike (free) services:

- Rich content written and shared by all members,
- Personal profiles and info centered on cycling,
- Numerous networking possibilities for bike riders,
- Calendar of next major and local events by location,
- Discussion and groups of discussion created by members,
- Show-room for members' bikes,
- (And so more!)

How to connect on Hubalabike?

Hubalabike will be opened to everyone in March 09. Starting then, everyone will be able to sign in. To connect on Hubalabike, you just need to access www.hubalabike.com and create a profile (based on bike riding questions). Members will be able to access Hubalabike main sections:

- Hubs; to join discussions and groups of members,
- Events; to browse major or local events near their location,
- News; to share news with their network,
- Bikes; to show their bike(s) and browse members' ones,
- People; to complete personal profile and get in touch with their network.

Opening September 2008:

Hubalabike will be opened to everyone starting from March 09. Starting then, everyone will be able to log on the website and use its services: meet you there!
